Be Ye Like Foolish.

"For ten years my wife was confined to her bed with such a complication of ailments that no doctor could tell what was the matter or cure her, and I used up a small fortune in hunting staff. Six months ago I saw a U. S. flag Bitters on it, and I thought I would be a fool once more. I tried it, but my fool proved to be wisdom. Two bottles cured her, and she is now as well and strong as any man's wife, and it only cost me two dollars. Be ye like foolish!" H. W., Detroit, Mich.

REVENUE LAW INFRACCTIONS.

A Few Facts for the Enlightenment of Col. O. J. H.

No one would pretend to assume that a United States official, especially a United States revenue official, could be partial or partisan in the exercise of his official functions; and least likely of all is that any individual would impute anything of that nature to the revenue collector of this territory, Col. O. J. Hollister. But, however clear a thing may be to intelligent minds, and as it is to us, there are those base enough to comprehend the reason for certain things that bear a remarkable semblance to inconsistencies in the course of an officer who treats all alike, irrespective of condition, religion, vocation or anything else. Some time ago a great raid was inaugurated upon the O. J. P. for issuing script without paying a tax on it, the result of which was that Collector Hollister gathered in from these concerns a very handsome sum for the treasury of the government of the United States. At the same time several liquor dealers, cigar sellers, and brewers were made to feel the heavy hand of the law, because of trifling irregularities which are likely to creep into any business. The liquor men and cigar dealers, however, were not so severely dealt with as the revenue collector of Utah, zealous and careful as he may be. The script tax fell pretty heavy on some little stores, and the trifling irregularities, if they really were such, of the brewers, liquor men, and cigar dealers, cost some a handsome little figure before they got through.

About this time, also, an old soap boiler, with a spiral pipe attachment, was discovered in one of the wards of the city, and the demand for the use of the distilling process; and vengeance was wreaked on the old soap boiler or boiler. Still later, and on down to the present time, arrests have been made for like offenses, and the penalties have been stirred up in some instances pretty lively. Only a few days ago, a man, doubtless a good enough or a very good citizen on general principles, was arrested at the instance of Collector Hollister, on a warrant issued by the collector, for selling with dispensing liquor in Ogden Canyon to passers without having first obtained a government license. This poor fellow was hauled down to Salt Lake and taken before the commissioner, and the collector over to wait the action of the grand jury in $500 bonds. Other cases of a like nature could probably be cited. And the action of the collector in this respect no one will object to, for he is authorized to do it by law; and such authorization, as every citizen is a duty as well as a right, is seen by reference to the Revised Statutes, page 625, section 3241, article 4, where the following will be found:

Every person who sells or offers for sale, foreign or domestic distilled spirits or wines in less quantities than five wine gallons at the same time, shall be regarded as a retail dealer in liquors.

The same section, article eighth, says:

Dealers in tobacco shall each pay $3. Every person who manufactures tobacco, or offers for sale, manufactured tobacco, snuff or cigars shall be regarded as a dealer in tobacco, and the payment of a special tax as a wholesale or retail liquor dealer, or the payment of any other special tax, shall not relieve any person who sells manufactured tobacco and cigars from the payment of this tax.

Again, section 3243, page 625, reads:

The payment of any tax imposed by the internal revenue law for carrying on any trade or business shall not be held to exempt any person from any penalty or punishment provided by the law for any state for carrying on the same within such state, or in any manner to authorize the commencement or continuance of such trade or business contrary to the laws of such state, or in places prohibited by municipal law; nor shall the payment of any such tax be any excuse for any state from placing a duty or tax on the same trade or business, for state or other purposes.

And in other sections will be found the punishment that shall be inflicted upon conviction. So Mr. Hollister does not do his duty; but here is the reimbursement to the collector of persons in this city have been in the habit of selling liquors without a license of any kind; they have been arrested for it by the city police, confessing the offense, and pleading guilty have been fined. Reference here is made to the prostitutes who keep houses of ill fame, and who in the land come under the letter and spirit of the revenue law as much as any others. Only a day or two ago, five of these women pleaded guilty to the offense of selling liquor without a license, and were fined $50 each by Judge Pyper, which all but one paid.

Now if Mr. Hollister feels it is his duty to drag a man down to Salt Lake for the commission of the offense and have him bound over, how is it that he finds his duty so light in regard to these cases? It will not do to say he does not know about them, because the facts are notoriously public, and he cannot help knowing them. They certainly are not exempt, and upon what can be the collector's reason for such unaccountable leniency is a conundrum that can only be solved. In his zeal Mr. Hollister shows one weak spot, and that is in favor of a class who certainly deserve no sympathy above other persons guilty of similar violations of the revenue law. Are you doing your duty, Mr. Collector? or how do you account for it, any way?

Drunkard Stuff.

How many children and women are slowly and surely dying, or rather being killed, by excessive doctoring, or the daily use of some drug or drunken stuff called medicine, that no one knows what it is made of, and which does more harm than good, and is a curse to the human race. It is a fact that a child of Hope, Bohn, Mandrake, Dandelion, etc., which is so pure, simple and harmless that the smallest child can trust in them. Will you be saved by them? See other columns.

"The Banker's Daughter."

To-night this piece will be performed at the Theatre. It is one which has long been expected, long talked about, and long rehearsed by the Home Dramatic Club, by whom it will be produced. For its special production a couple of new and beautiful scenes have specially been painted, which are to add materially to the effect of the presentation; it has been talked in connection with "Pique," which has been given and proved a success, and as a result of much talk, considerable advertising, the success of "Pique," the love of good entertainments and acting, and a desire to encourage the Home Dramatic Club, and to see new and good pieces, the theatre-going public is decidedly willing to see "The Banker's Daughter" produced, and for this reason will go to the Theatre to-night for that purpose. It has been given out with considerable assurance by the management of the Club, that the performance will prove an artistic success, and that while this piece is taking in some of the elements which added to the popularity of "Pique," it more than makes up for this absence in being a much finer drama, of a higher order, and with a nobler and more intense dramatic action, though not so sensational. As with "Pique" the cast is heavy. Those taking part have labored earnestly to make the play a success, and stages who have been present at rehearsals state that along those in the cast will not be behind their reputations earned in "Pique," in which event there need be no fear as to substantial appreciation. Already there has been an exceedingly heavy sale of seats, and this performance, leading on the heels of the "Pique" success, and with the attraction of the Careless Orchestra, promises to be witnessed to-night by an immense audience.

Narrow Escape.

Four persons had a very narrow escape from being buried alive on Friday. They were working at the gravel beds a short distance up City Creek, in the afternoon, about 2:30 o'clock, when the bank suddenly gave way, and fell partly on them. The persons were Thom Lewis, B. Middlemas, and Lewis and Melle Wells. One of the party was thrown by the falling bank, which was about fourteen feet high, and four feet thick, between his horse's legs and about twelve feet beyond; another was covered with about three feet of the earth. Strange as it may seem none was seriously hurt, the men being but slightly bruised. It was a decidedly narrow escape.

The Air Compressor.

The Richmann Air Compressor, which arrived for the Barbee & Walker last week, has been set up in the west end of the hoisting works, and Monday morning steam was turned on for the first time. The machinery worked just as if it was new, and the specimen of wind turned out was pronounced by Foreman Gendle to be a No. 1 quality. Pipe is now being laid down the main incline and the first operations of the new drill will be at the bottom station. The machine is calculated to punch the head of a drill at the rate of several hundred feet a minute, and this will make the sand rock very lively.—Silver Reef Miner.

Graham Bread Has a Friend.

KAYSVILLE, DAVIS COUNTY, December 29th, 1880.

Editors Herald:

In reading over the articles of quick doctors in your valuable paper, and of diphtheria, causing alarm in New York, and now it is in Salt Lake again, I think if people would use more wisdom there would be no need of so many quick doctors. Now, what I wish to say is this: I have been in a flour mill sixteen years, and I know how wheat is milled, from forty to forty-four pounds of flour to the bushel of wheat—what we called family flour. Now—a-days you will see XXXX flour in the market—nothing but the starch of the wheat, and the flour thrown away. Now, if the people must have such fine flour, I would recommend them to eat Graham bread or cracked wheat one meal a day, or at least three times a week. Then I fully believe they would have better health, and their children, and there would not be so much sickness for quick doctors to attend to. In the language of Dr. Cutler, the increase of nervous diseases, decaying of teeth, premature baldness, and general lack of muscle and bone and strength are greatly due to the impoverished quality of flour now in use. The gluten has been thrown away in order to make the flour white. He urges the use of unbleached flour, and of eggs, milk and butter. This is my opinion, and I would recommend this kind of food for health and strength as long as I am permitted to live, and if I can get it I shall eat it.

Grant & Clayton.

Elsewhere appears a notice in which the public is made acquainted with the formation of a co-partnership between Messrs. H. J. Grant and N. W. Clayton. Mr. Grant is the agent for a number of the most noted and reliable insurance companies of this country and of the world; has been in the business for years, comprehends it fully, possesses exceptional aptitude for it, is thoroughly reliable, and enjoys a reputation which any business man could be proud of. His business of late has grown upon him so fast that he has been unable to attend to himself, and has therefore found it necessary to take a partner. He has succeeded in getting Mr. N. W. Clayton to join with him, and a better selection all will admit could not have been made. Though a young man, Mr. Clayton is thoroughly reliable, and, as he does, the important trust of auditor of this territory, and being its librarian. Moreover, he possesses marked business ability, which gives evidence of making him successful in any business. The new firm is one that certainly starts on with good prospects; both young men are able, reliable, and possess excellent business qualifications, and there is no reason why it should not grow rapidly.

Firemen's Ball.

The long-expected firemen's ball came off at the Theatre last night. While there was an excellent assemblage as regards sociability, it was not as large as one could have desired. It seems strange, in view of the services rendered the public in this city at all times and under all circumstances, by the boys of the firebrigade, that it could not show more appreciation than was manifested, especially when such money as was made is to be devoted to the purchase of equipment for the brigade, and has nothing of private gain in it. Those present, however, did enjoy themselves most thoroughly, every exertion being made by the boys to enhance the pleasure of their guests. The Theatre was beautifully decorated and everything arranged in genuine No. 1 style. The supper was also well placed by the Oyster Grotto; while the strains of the Careless Orchestra, compelled all to dance whether they wished to or not. The boys made a social success of the ball, and it was not a financial failure, though not such a success in that direction as one could have desired.
